CORNER ALDEN ROAD & BRIDGE STREET, FAIRHAVEN. 993-9913

THE PASTA HISTORY

Lasagna, Spaghetti, Ravioli, Fettucini, Cannelloni and Tortellini; Egg or green spinach Pasta. Homemade pasta, prepared with all the goodness of the old ways and days, is now more popular throughout the world than ever before. Not merely because of the delectably varied dishes based on pasta, but because the youth of today has adopted pasta creations as its own. Nutritionists now appreciate the importance and value of properly prepared pasta, with its wealth of proteins, vitamins and minerals. And lovers of good food enjoy the delicious variety it offers. For that is the beauty of pasta. It can be prepared with meat ... with fish ... with vegetables or a salad. And, with imagination and taste, pasta can be a dish for weight watchers, ecologists or gourmets.

Our unique method of preparing pasta and the savoury variations offered in our menu are inspired by the traditional northern Italian cuisine which has contributed so much to good, wholesome eating.

We pledge to maintain the old traditions of fine quality and value in our service to you, our customers.

"All our pasta is cooked to order, because 'Pasta is very impatient'. The sauce will wait for the Pasta, but the Pasta will not wait for the sauce."

Selectmen's Meeting

FIRE DEPARTMENT REORGANIZATION

Selectmen, Fire Chief Paul Bradley and Assistant Chief Donald Wood conferred on a preliminary outline for the restructuring of the Fire Department. The major change would put the Fire Alarm System into the department reporting to Chief Bradley. It was agreed by all that this would be a natural step and one that is almost universally followed by other fire systems. It is felt that the 3 trucks should each have a captain and have a clear chain of command to avoid any confusion at the fire site when key senior officers might be absent. The Chief and his deputy will take the preliminary plan and use it as a basis for a restructuring of the department.

Selectmen also directed that Chief Bradley set up an office in the fire station where he can keep his records and work on them. A second floor storage area was suggested as a possible location. Selectmen will consider and set a wage for the new post of assistant chief in the near future.

The Selectmen asked the chief to take a long range look ahead to determine equipment replacement or rebuilding needs so that they can be placed on a schedule of capital expenditures that need advance planning.

ASK EXEMPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Elsbree d/b/a The Studio Shop conferred with Selectmen concerning the application for a second hand/antique license. They explained that they do not feel that they come under the category described by the license. They said that they do shows only and do not sell or buy from the house. Almost all business is done out of town and the shop is used for storage according to Mr. Elsbree. He said that most merchandise is bought from auction or from other dealers.

The Selectmen will consider the exception and took the matter under advisement.

poisett well level is to allow the test well.

The Department of Quality Engineering has set 5.5 million gallons per day as a yield from the river valley. This level is lower by nearly half to the estimate of an earlier study by Metcalf & Eddie. Allocations are considered very important to future development of the river valley. Mr. DeCosta said that Fairhaven now takes 2 million gallons per day at peak. Mattapoisett pumps 1 million gallons per day and Marion and Rochester pump a little less than 1 million per day each.

Mr. DeCosta said that the committee has the full support of Mr. Anderson of the D.Q.E. who said that the towns now settle among themselves matters that the D.Q.E. might otherwise have to take to the State to decide.

Selectman Frank Suzan said that he considered it very important to have an agreement set up now, in the event that the Fairhaven test well has an adverse effect on the water level of Mattapoisett's primary water source (#4 station), then the test well site should be shut down.
OPPOSE COURT TAKEOVER

Chairman DeCosta reported that he had talked to County Commissioners regarding plans now in the legislature to have the state take over county courts. He said he was told that county buildings are now debt free and are run for approximately 30 million dollars per year. If the state takes over the buildings, the commissioners estimated cost would run 125 million dollars annually. SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Marion Mothers' Club President M. Brenda Morris expresses appreciation and thanks to the many people and club members who made this a very successful year for scholarship fund raising. To commemorate the club's 45th anniversary, a $500.00 scholarship in memory of the club's co-founders, Clara Lewis and Reverend Laurence D. Somers, will be awarded to a Marion student entering college to further his or her education in the field of their choice. For scholarship information contact the guidance counselor's office at Old Rochester Regional High School. As part of this year's program a donation of $100.00 is being sent to Upper Cape Cod Regional Vocational-Technical School to be placed in their fund. In addition, a $25.00 donation has been made to Marion Cub Scout Pack 32 to be used at their discretion.

ANNUAL BANQUET

The Marion Mothers' Club will hold its annual banquet June 8th at the Mattapoisett Inn. Deadline for reservations and payment is June 1st. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. and a buffet dinner served at 7:00 p.m. For more information call Elizabeth Church.

ATTENTION: SURVIVAL-SURVIVOR PARENTS

Recently it has come to our attention that the 7th grade Survival-Survivor Program needs some parental and monetary support. Parents and interested parties from Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester have established a Survival Support Fund account at a local bank. If you would like to support this worthwhile 7th grade activity please write and mail checks to:

Survival Support Fund, c/o Pam Norweb, 339 Point Road, Marion, MA. 02738; or contact: in Marion, Pam Norweb, 748-0513; in Mattapoisett, Dale Bradshaw, 758-4283; in Rochester, Denise Meunier, 763-5120. Please don't send checks to the school.

For the students involved in Survivor, the program needs parents to give their time and energy by chaperoning the daily

Regional Cooperation

New Bedford Mayor Brian J. Lawler has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, June 2nd, at 7 p.m. in the Industrial Development Commission's conference room, 1213
Purchase Street, New Bedford.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss ways in which the region can cooperate. Possible areas include regional economic development, collective purchasing, and regional refuse disposal.

Among those invited to attend the meeting are Selectmen from Dartmouth, Fairhaven, Acushnet, Westport, Marion, Mattapoissett,
Rochester and Freetown. The Bristol County
Commissioners; County Treasurer Frank
Vieira; SRPEDD Executive Director Stephen
Smith; and John L. Downey, President of the New Bedford Area Chamber of Commerce; are also invited.

The meeting is open to the public.

MUSEUM PLANS SECOND TRIP TO HARVARD GLASS COLLECTION

Due to the success of its first scheduled visit, the New Bedford Glass Museum has planned another trip to the Harvard Botanical Museum, home of the famous Blaschka Collection of glass plant models, on Monday, June 27th.

The motor coach will leave the Glass Museum at 10:15 a.m. on June 27, returning to New Bedford at 5:00 p.m. Included in the trip ticket is a five-course Chinese buffet at Cambridge's famous Joyce Chen Restaurant. Glass Museum Director Janie Chester Young will provide an introduction to the glass model collection.

Cost of the trip is 11.00 for Glass Museum members and 14.00 for the general public. Reservations are limited and must be paid in advance before June 25th. After June 24th reservations will not be refundable.

The Blaschka Collection of glass plant models was created between 1885 and 1934 by the Dresden glass artists Leopold and Rudolph Blaschka. Over 3000 species were produced for the use of Harvard botany students, replicating the color, texture, and scale of plants down to the minutest detail.

Reservations by mail should be addressed to the New Bedford Glass Museum, 50 North Second Street, New Bedford, MA. 02740. For information call Mrs. Perkins at 994-0115.

Larry Bland and the All-Volunteer Choir of Richmond, Virginia, who have rightfully won world acclaim for their unique and glittering Gospel Sound, will present a special program of Gospel Music and highlights from their production of the joyous musical Purlie on Friday, August 12th, at 10:00 a.m. Young people will get a special behind-the-scenes view of their techniques, rehearsal process, and choral tradition as this group of fabulous voices sing up a storm of love and energy.

The Bowyer and Bruggeman American Ballet Comedie offer their zany blend of humor and beauty in dance on Friday, August 26th, at 10:00 a.m. This talented and energetic group of seven acrobatic and highly skilled dancers will show their audience ballet, tap, jazz, and comic dance forms that entertain, educate, and tickle everybody's funny bone.

Completing the first Young People's Series on Thursday, September 1st, will be Little Red Riding Hood and The Three Little Pigs. Sounds confusing? Not when you realize this hilarious show is told from the Wolf's point of view. Done with large costumes and fun sets, this will be a charming conclusion to a varied and unique per-

ZEITERION ADDS JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR TO SUMMERFUN LINEUP

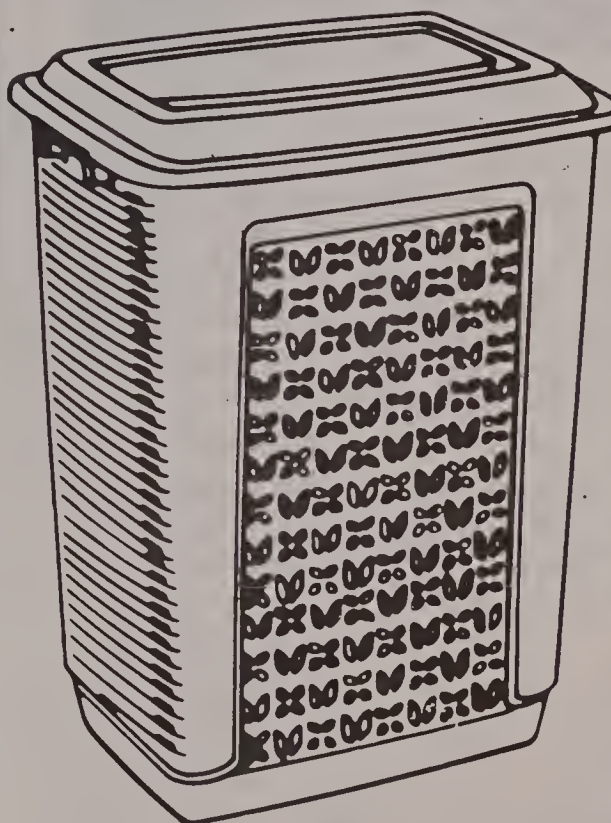

The Zeiterion Theatre proudly announces an exciting addition to its SUMMERFUN '83 lineup of live entertainment. The highly acclaimed production of the classic rock opera JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR with members of the talented New Bedford High School Drama Club cast will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 18, 19 and 20 at 8:30 p.m. The show will be included in the summer subscription package.

This fully-staged and costumed production will again star Michael McGrath as a "serene, yet powerful" Jesus, Robert Andrade as a "lithe, aggressive, enigmatic" Judas, and Lisa Andrade as an "attractive, magnificent voiced" Mary Magdalene. Janice MacDonald will re-create her "outstanding choreography", Cassandra Morgan will supervise the demanding vocals, Donald Vasconcellos will assume the duties of musical director, and George T. Charbonneau and Armand R. Marchand will again co-direct with the flair that has made this production one of the most talked-about theatrical presentations in recent years.

Covering the last seven days in the life of Christ, Jesus Christ Superstar is a telling account of the agonized betrayal of Judas, the trials of Christ before Pilate and Herod, the confused emotions of Mary Magdalene, and the final crucifixion and triumph of Christ. With music and lyrics by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice, this is a rock opera that appeals to all musical tastes. Its driving rhythms, beautiful flowing melodies, and its triumphal and exciting orchestral backgrounds have made Jesus Christ Superstar a milestone in musical theatre throughout the world since its early creation as a studio recording in London in 1970.

New Bedford audiences have labeled the recent New Bedford High School Drama Club production as "inspiring", "a joy to watch and listen to", "deeply moving", "superb", and "astonishing in its excellence". The overwhelming public response prompted the Zeiterion Theatre to consider this an important addition to its first summer of theatrical presentations which include the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, July 30 and 31; Purlie, August 10 through 13; and the American Ballet

SPRING MAINTENANCE

The start of the boating season is fast approaching and many boaters are dragging out the tools, paint buckets and grease to get their crafts ready. Loving hours are spent on engine and hull maintenance and repair, but safety and lifesaving equipment need some of that same tender loving care. Here are some tips from the Coast Guard to help you take care of the equipment that takes care of you.

PERSONAL FLOTATION DEVICE (LIFEJACKETS):

Many popular life jackets or vests use fiber-fill enclosed in a heat-sealed plastic bag for flotation. Check these for leaks by squeezing them and listening for escaping air. If the insert leaks or collapses while being squeezed, the plastic is punctured and the lifejacket cannot be relied upon to keep you afloat. It should be replaced.

Although there is a mildew-inhibitor treatment required for the cloth covers, some lifejackets will eventually rot. Storing your lifejackets in a cool, dry place will slow this process. However, once the cover or straps rot or fray to the extent that the device is no longer serviceable, the jacket must be replaced. FIRE EXTINGUISHERS: Be sure your fire extinguishers meet federal requirements. They must be UL approved for marine use or have a Coast Guard approval number and be the proper size, type and quantity for your boat. Check the gauge or have the extinguisher weighed by the local fire station to see if it needs recharging. Do not test a fire extinguisher by releasing a small amount of the agent. This breaks the seal and may allow it to leak. Shake a dry-chemical extinguisher well before stowing it on your vessel. This keeps the chemical from packing down in the bottom of the canister.

NAVIGATION LIGHTS: If your boat has navigation lights, check the bulbs to see that they are bright and in good condition. If the bulb is corroded, appears dim, or the glass is loose from the base, replace it.

This is also a good time to make sure you have spare bulbs of each type and size required for your vessel. Check the wiring from the socket to the power source. Be sure the wire, insulation, terminals and switches are not corroded, clean and in good condition. Make sure the wiring is well secured and up out of any area where water may collect. Solder and wrap all splices well to make sure they remain solid and watertight.

LIFELINES AND HANDRAILS: Examine all fittings and fasteners on bow and stern rails, stanchions, lifelines and hand-rails. Make sure they are all tight and have no rust or corrosion on them. All safety lines and rails should be bolted through the hull or deck to which they are attached and should be large enough to withstand the use and abuse to which they would be normally subjected. A weak or poorly secured lifeline or handrail is worse than no rail at all because it gives a false sense of security.

GROUND TACKLE: Examine your anchor line from one end to the other for any signs of weakness. Check all metal parts for excess corrosion. Make sure shackles and pins are tight and firmly secured. Check the lines for any kinks or abrasions. If using natural fiber rope, check for discoloration. This could be an indicator of rot. Any part of the ground tackle suspected of being weak should be replaced. Don't trust your boat and your life to something that "should be OK". If in doubt, replace it.

ELECTRONICS: Servicing the radios and navigation gear on your vessel is a job for an expert. All electronic gear aboard should be checked periodically for accuracy and reliability. While outfitting for the new season, you should take time to get the expert service you need for this equipment.

Finally, have your boat examined by one of the Coast Guard Auxiliary's Courtesy Examiners. They will check your boat for all federal requirements and other safety items to assure your boat is shipshape for the new season. If your boat is properly equipped you will be given a Courtesy

New England Artist Festival

The largest multi-arts festival in New England is back with a new program and a new location on the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The New England Artist Festival takes place Saturday and Sunday, June 4 and 5, from 11:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. rain or shine, with plenty of free parking available. In its seventh year, the Festival is New England's most comprehensive multi-arts event - a show-place for the region's finest in visual art, music, dance, craft, theatre, film and literature. With over 600 artists participating, the Festival is expected to attract close to 20,000 people to the Amherst area.

The Festival is geared to present a New England audience with two full days of entertainment and quality arts and special activities. Popular features of the Festival each year are the Craft Marketplace and the Performance Showcase. The Craft Marketplace offers a unique buying opportunity for collectors of fine craft with 100 of New England's top artisans displaying their work. This year's Marketplace carries especially fine blown glass, wood, and hand-woven goods in a broad price range. The Performance Showcase highlights fifty performing artists on three separate stages with an on-going variety of music, dance and theatre. The National Marionette Theater, the Wild Turkey Jazz Band, Danceworks and Grumb-ling Gryphons children's theater are among the specially selected performers on stage. In addition, the New England Neighborhood Stage accents performance from various communities of people. Sunday offers an array of international dance including Vietnamese, East Indian, Portuguese, Greek, Caribbean, and New England folk dance. Through exhibitions and demonstrations as well, the native American communities of Connecticut, Portuguese communities of Ludlow, MA. and Providence, R.I., the Afro-American community of western Massachusetts, and the Chinese-American community of the Boston area are highlighted.

Unusual, challenging and provocative describe the large environmental art pieces which dot the Festival grounds. Many of these Major Works involve the audience in their artistic development. Festival-goers may help inflate a forty-foot in diameter fabric sculpture, create an artistic fish to swim in the reflecting pools of the Fine Arts Center, or wander through a maze of colorful translucent panels made of candy. Also new to the Festival this year is the program called New England's Living Art Treasures. Seven artists who have made significant developments in ceramics, printmaking, glasswork, sculptural fabric, poetry, and turned wood and who have achieved national or international acclaim are honored. The New England Gallery houses an exhibit of thirty visual artists representing painting, sculpture, metalsmithing, weaving, ceramics, and photography.

Literary enthusiasts can enjoy readings by six established and up-and-coming poets as well as browse through publications at the Small Press Fair where small independent publishers will be selling those hard-to-find editions not available in retail bookstores.

Other special events include Classic Cars on Parade, a showcase of antique and vintage automobiles, kite-fights, a boat-building demonstration, a ninety-foot black banana, and technological art. Children will be entertained at the Kid's Place with storytellers, clowns, puppetry and can participate in environmental weavings, kite-making, and music activities.

Food will be plentiful and will range from the most exotic of international cuisine to the all-American hot dog.

To cap the first Festival day, on Saturday evening, June 4th, at 7:30 p.m. a special concert by Tom Rush and Friends, David Bromberg, Maria Muldaur, David Buskin and Robin Batteau, will take place at the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. This is a rare get-together of favorite artists for a one-time only concert.

Whether you are an arts enthusiast or not there is something for everyone at the New England Artist Festival.

The Festival is sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education at the University of Massachusetts and the Advocate Newspapers with assistance from the Pioneer Valley Association.

BRISTOL COMMUNITY COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

Bristol Community College will hold commencement exercises at 4 p.m. June 12 on the Elsbree Street campus. Approximately 515 students will receive associate degrees and certificates of achievement at BCC's sixteenth graduation ceremony. Judaic Institute

"The Fourth Annual Judaic Institute is scheduled for June 12th-16th", Professor Robert Waxler, co-director of Southeastern Massachusetts University's Center for Jewish Culture, has announced. "The June program will complete our regular series of the events held this year." Those events included a preservation workshop for the Center's oral history project, the holocaust film "David", an afternoon with Rabbi Lynn Gottlieb discussing women and Jewish tradition, a lecture on Yiddish Culture, and the Avodah Dance Group.

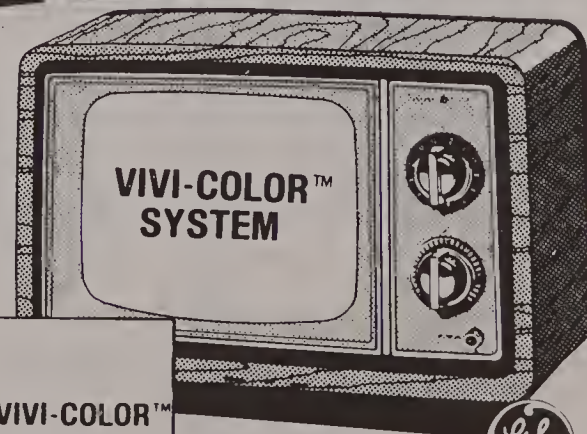

"The Institute this year will once again bring internationally known scholars to the SMU Campus," Waxler said. David Schoenbrun, an Emmy Award winning journalist, will be the keynote speaker on the evening of June 12th. He will discuss "The Jews and the Media". In addition, during the week, Eugene Borowitz, the Albert A. List Professor on Jewish Studies at Harvard; Blu Greenberg, a frequent writer on women's liberation; and Jo Nathan, an expert on Jewish ethnicity, will highlight the program.

The theme of the Institute this year is "capturing the future by discovering the past", according to Rabbi Bernard Glass-man, co-director of the Center. "We have received calls from all parts of the country," said Glassman, "and we believe that this will be the best Institute so far."

In addition to the main speakers, Waxler and Glassman will conduct morning sessions on Jewish literature and history, and Professor Peter London will join with Waxler to discuss "Jewish perspectives in Art and Literature". The Yiddish film "Mamale" with Molly Picon will also be shown. "The film is a classic that captures the heart of Yiddish culture," said Glassman.

"The main purpose of the Institute", according to Waxler, "is to continue to educate people about Jewish culture. We hope both Jews and non-Jews will attend. The large outline of the development of Jewish culture is similar in so many ways to the development of other ethnic cultures. I hope we can make the Institute this year a celebration for all people. We should all learn to take pride in our ethnic heritage."

As Glassman put it: "We can only begin to shape our future by understanding our past. The journey into Jewish culture should be shared by everyone. The SMU Center for Jewish Culture has always tried to build bridges for all people."

Emissions Legislation

SENATOR FILES ORDER TO AUTO EMISSIONS INSPECTION PROGRAM

Senator William Q. MacLean, Jr. (D-Fairhaven) has filed a special order for the appointment of a committee to make an investigation relative to the auto emissions inspection program. This order was accepted by the Senate.

Senator MacLean submitted this legislation in response to the difficulties encountered by inspection station owners when implementing the new motor vehicle inspection program. Many inspection stations have experienced problems particularly with the analyzing machines. Another concern to be addressed is whether too many inspection stations are receiving licenses.

This special committee would study the auto emissions inspection program and then issue a report of its findings and recommendations, together with drafts of legislation to carry out such recommendations into effect.
